

GRIGORY GRABOVOY
Star Numbers for Eternal Life
2000

INTRODUCTION

Distant stars, from which physical vision only light is perceived, have subtle connections with the Soul of a person. A person can perceive the light of his Soul with his physical sight, which mixes with the color of the human body. With this understanding it can be seen that at some distance from the human body and on the human body the light of the stars intersects at the physical level and unites with the light of the Soul. The light of the stars in a certain sense represents an element of eternity from the point of view of what such light often reaches a person from millions of light years away and at the same time it is a gateway to the world that, on the other hand, sides of the star and is infinite. The Eternal Soul, touching the eternal the light of the stars, can influence the environment through the will of a person physical and informational reality, including everything that relates to information.

Ensuring eternal life of man is achieved concentrations on the areas of interaction of the light of stars and the Soul of a person. These areas of interaction are presented in the form number series.

The method of working with such numerical series is: to consider with spiritual vision or to imagine as a numerical series, starting near the human body, it is superimposed on the rounded at the other end of the body a silvery-white line. The row ends at the end of this line, and through the number that ends, the unification with the light of the star is made. The final number, which the series ends, acquires the properties of infinity. Through this last number of the series, a person connects himself to eternity, a special case of which is the eternal life of man, all people and all living things in general.

Reserves of energy of eternity allow to control objects the physical world, such as reducing the weight of a physical object or by force of will combined with concentration, deflect an asteroid heading towards Earth in advance.

It is necessary to use such opportunities, as they guarantee eternal life is the presence of a safe, protected from threatening asteroids or other problems in the surrounding space, physical carrier in the Universe on which a person lives. To influence such things to ensure the eternal life of man physical bodies, you need to concentrate on the first digit of the series, corresponding to the star.

By the name of the star you can determine in which part The Universe may have problems. In this case, the Spiritual with your eyesight you can see that if the problem is in the direction ray of light emanating from a star, then the numerical series related to the star, it begins to glow first with a greenish color, which helps a person to correct the situation faster; then reddish in color if the problem is increasing; and yellowish if The problem requires urgent resolution.

To normalize the situation and resolve the issues identified in this way the problem of external space must be mentally imagine the row as silvery white and with an effort of will hold it management for some time. Often literally required milliseconds to normalize the information, but in some In some cases it takes longer. When solving a problem, a number of corresponding to the star, can emit blue light for some time color or other light tones, except yellow. In the structure world order, one can often see the non-randomness of those or other processes. For example, the yellowish hues of the Sun seem to subconsciously remind a person of the need to develop Spiritual powers and Consciousness for managing the external space.

The Sun in this sense is also a training level. reality, and with objective characteristics of influence on matter of man. When looking at the Sun for a long time, there may be visual impairment, which justifies the anxiety of the yellowish shades and encourages one to find protection from the events that follow yellow. At the same time, the Sun forces humanity think about life on Earth if the Sun's energy begins to run out. And this is again the task of managing external macro-objects space. To collect so much energy from the small Earth that to restore the function of the Sun in this case seems very problematic, even if man-made systems are strongly will develop. It turns out that the objective reality is such that any a sane person is forced to ensure the conditions of his life to develop what is always with him - his Spirit, Soul and Consciousness to level of ensuring absolute controllability of all external spaces.

If in the area of one star emitting anxiety, they begin emit a green signal and then an alarm red signal or yellow signal other nearby stars, then according to the laws of optics it is possible understand that the object is approaching the Earth, and already normalize light range is needed for several stars. Many objects approaching the Earth for decades or millennia, but in a certain distance, usually several tens of light years away Land, place in case of dangerous object life protection is triggered on Earth, and the object passes or is deflected without hitting the Earth.

The Creator, giving knowledge of eternal life to people, also provided for having enough time to do it people have learned to control all external space for ensuring eternal life for everyone, each and every living thing. Even if a dangerous object moving towards Earth needs millennia to get closer to the Earth, it is still desirable already now, we can carry out standardization using numerical series situations, as the will of many people, for a long time aimed at ensuring normal conditions for eternal life, expressed in the form of concentrations on numerical series, prayers, conversation of the Soul of man with God, accumulates and certainly normalizes events.

Actions to normalize external space can bring great benefit to the body, as they make the body a person stronger, and therefore more capable of providing to yourself and everyone else the necessary conditions for eternal health and harmonious life. If we draw an analogy with the physical world, then work on the management of space objects It's reminiscent of training with weight machines.

For the level of thinking, such work leads to the fact that mental activity becomes stronger, faster the brain matter is restored. By applying increasing thus the brain's resource for integrating various processes for ensuring eternal life, it is possible to bring reality to a faster level guaranteed provision of eternal life to all. With such strengthening the brain's activity in the direction of eternal development the clarity of Consciousness increases, which is not influenced by external factors circumstances, and internally a person begins to be more stable in various matters to maintain the line of eternal life.

The ability to reproduce thoughts is increasingly beginning originate from the whole human body, and not just be perceived as the emergence of thoughts in the head area. A person begins to perceive that his whole body becomes thinking, and this perception is accepted by a person as a happy worldview. A thought reproduced by the whole human body creates reality creativity, through which eternal life is naturally ensured a person, since any problem can be solved creatively. Thus, through concentration on the numbers of stars, a subjective, individual-dependent approach to reality ensuring the eternal life of man himself and all other people.

Over time, eternal life becomes natural for man. This eternal life realizes immortality, since the technology of immortality does not depend on external space connection with the possibility of control. Methods concentrations on star numbers using explicit information of all the infinite external space, realize completely resurrection technology, since infinite space means an infinite amount of information that is obvious infinite time can be so mutually arranged that everything will be resurrected. All external infinite space containing stars, allows one to perceive eternal life in a comprehensive manner, consisting not only of the immortality of the living, but also of the obligatory resurrection of the departed, since the infinite space is a fact of reality. This fact of reality is by law similarities in universal connections are ensured by the event of propagation infinity, that is, eternity on man. Infinity of number stars, composed of the perception of infinite space behind stars, allows you to understand the methodology of managing future events beyond the current time and thus to ensure the future of eternal life.

In this book, numerical concentrations are produced according to constellations and specifically for each star. Intersection concentrations occur in such a way that all the stars entering in constellations, can be mutually combined when concentrated on constellations. That is, first the concentration is made on the numbers, corresponding to the constellation, and then concentrating on the numbers, corresponding to the star. In this case, you can use the method such a concentration that after the numbers of the constellations there are concentration on three stars chosen by you, on numbers, corresponding to these stars, to ensure eternal life.

When working with star numbers, you can take into account that the devices radiation from the position in space has been established the stars that it occupied in the past, has in the present and will have in the future. Thus, in cases of management with
When using star numbers, one must take into account the presence of collective consciousness of information that the radiation of events is not only the present, but also the past and future tenses influence physical bodies in the present time. Astronomical observations confirming this were made in the 1970s 125-centimeter mirror telescope of the Crimean Astrophysical Observatory. As a host the device (sensor) in the focal plane of the telescope was a resistor (resistance) is installed. Observations have shown that a change (increase) in the electrical conductivity of the resistor occurs, when the telescope is pointed at one of three points in the sky that coincides with three positions of any observable cosmic objects (stars, galaxies) corresponding to the positions of this object in the past, present and future.

The past image matches the apparent position of the object in the sky. The real, one might say true image of the object, corresponds to the position of the object at the current moment of time according to the clock observer, that is, the observer's own time. The future the image of the object corresponds to the position that will be occupy the object when it receives a signal sent from Earth the moment of observation and propagating at the speed of light ($c =$ 300,000 km/sec). All three images follow the trajectory proper motion of the object: the true one is in the center (present) position, and the past and future are located symmetrically on both sides of the present.

The apparent position of a distant space object is its "past image" observed from Earth in the optical range electromagnetic radiation. But in fact, in that place in the sky this object no longer exists because during the time that the photon flow flies from it to the Earth, it shifts along its trajectory "proper motion". And the further it is from us, the longer its light (or any other electromagnetic) flies to the Earth signal. For example, from the nearest galaxy Andromeda - millions of years. Using the data known in astronomy about own speed and direction of movement of the observed object, you can determine the point in the sky where it should be at the moment of observation and direct the mirror there reflecting telescope. This instrument is equipped so that instead of The eyepiece has a resistor included in the device, whose state equilibrium depends on the electrical conductivity of the resistor. It turns out — the device reacts not only to the visible, but also to the real position of the object. This means that an observer on Earth can receive information about the state of this or that formation of the Universe for the present moment of time according to your watch and record it true position.

A telescope mounted in this way makes it possible obtain information about the future state of the object, because registers the position that he will occupy when he comes to him a signal as if sent from Earth at the speed of light at the moment observations. In addition, the devices have established that the "rays" the detected radiation is not deflected by the Earth's atmosphere, like rays of light, and even affect the resistor and in that if the telescope lens is covered with a duralumin cover 2 mm thick.

These results were later fully confirmed. employees of the Institute of Mathematics of the USSR Academy of Sciences. Observations were carried out in the same place, on the same instrument and with the same astronomical objects. The Sun was also observed. Scientists along with a metal film resistor (physical sensor) used bacteria that have the ability to form colonies on a solid nutrient medium (biological sensor). Observations using a physical sensor are completely confirmed the results of the 1970s. When using the same biological sensor it was found that under the influence this radiation, bacteria form colonies more actively than in its absence.

This proves that there is a universal law in the Universe. interaction that establishes an instant connection observer with any of its objects and has an impact on physical and biological receivers.

Then in a general sense the absorption or perception of information future events contribute to life and development life. From this we can draw the following conclusion: that any a form of life, including human life, in interaction with radiation of the future increases its life resource. For a person who has radiation of the physical body, thoughts, Spirit and Souls instantly interact with each other and with everyone events of any time, constant interaction with radiation of the future occurs when a person for himself and for everything the living realizes the goal of eternal life in the physical body, because the information of eternal life is always united with the information infinite future. It turns out that during the formation events of eternal life a person constantly receives radiation a future that will ensure him eternal life.

The principle of instant interaction, widespread through mathematical postulates and calculations in my scientific in the work "Applied structures of the creating area of information" all phenomena of reality, including the radiation of thought and generation biosignal, applied by me in creating the inventions "Method prevention of disasters and the device for its implementation" and "Information transmission system".

In practice, this scientifically proves that with your consciousness you interact instantly with all objects reality, including information about the future of all objects. Consequently, all objects of reality receive radiation. interaction with you. Since the future is not rigidly fixed in information space, and a simple example of this is that through a second a person can go either left or right, then you you can radiate your thoughts to realize eternal life to generate relevant future information that then in the form of radiation saturates you with life. Thus you you can create for yourself and for everyone with your own thoughts eternal life. It turns out to be an eternal process of life at the expense of thinking. After all, the radiation of information of the future, as it was proven by the results of observations on a 125-centimeter in a reflecting telescope, it develops life.

Since everyone must live forever, the knowledge of the Soul ensuring eternal life can work instantly for everyone, and the law of the transition of quantity into quality can help accumulation knowledge about methods of eternal life to be translated into more effective ensuring the events of eternal life. Therefore, mastering the methods eternal life even by direct radiation from thoughts arising to implement these methods through the identified instantaneous interaction with all objects of reality, creates a world in in which life in the physical body is eternal.

In the book, letters of the Greek and Latin alphabets are used to denote stars in the constellation in order of decreasing brightness (from "alpha" to "omegas", then from "a" to "z" and from "A" to "Z"). Those stars that do not have letter designations, they are numbered in order increase of their right ascension. Multiple stars are designated a letter with a superscript, such as π_1 , π_2 , π_3 , π_4 , π_5 and π_6 Orion. A multiple star is made up of three or more stars that look close to each other from Earth. In capital letters, following the star symbol are the components binary or multiple systems, for example: "c Cygnus A" and "c Cygnus B». Star systems of two stars are called binary star systems.

To ensure eternal life for oneself and for everyone through concentrations on star numbers can use text and images given in this book. If you wish, you can also look at the stars in physical space and produce concentration on the numbers of stars. Then it will be the realization of another one method of concentration, including the light of the stars with physical space of space.

To find the north point on the horizon and to start searching of all other constellations it is advisable to know the constellation Big Ursa Major. By focusing on the stars of the Big Dipper, you can understand the surrounding star systems more quickly. the location of its seven brightest stars, the constellation Big The Ursa Major resembles a ladle. The Big Dipper is easy to see in the sky at any time of the night. Only at different times of the night and at different

At some time of year this constellation is visible low, as in the early evening in autumn, high in summer, in the eastern sky in spring, in western sky at the end of summer. According to this constellation you can find the North Star. To do this, you need to go through the two outer stars in the front wall of the bucket draw a straight line. This line and will point out the North Star. Under the North Star on the horizon there is always a north point. If you look at the North Star, then the face will be turned to the north, the south will be behind the back, to the right - East, left - west.

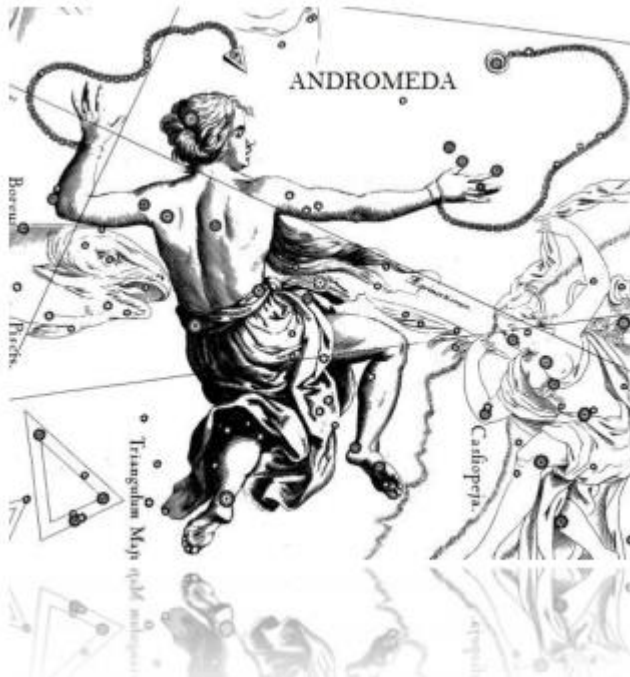

There are over 100 billion stars in our galaxy. About 1% of them are included in astronomical catalogues, which means that these stars have received individual designations. And the rest of the stars of the Milky Way are still unnamed and not even counted. Stars of other galaxies especially not calculated. When concentrating on the numbers of a series, it is possible perceive the light of all other stars through the third number of the series and thus in such a way as to fill this light with energy and at the same time the light of the star or constellation itself, to which refers to the numerical series. When mentally pronouncing the fifth number series and at the same time visual perception of the entire numerical series you can see another star or constellation with your spiritual vision, which may be outside the observable physical outer space, and simultaneously with a star or constellation, to which the series belongs, to transmit knowledge to you, ensuring eternal life.

All the bright stars of the earth's sky, and even many of the faint ones, In addition to scientific designations, there are also proper names; they are received, as a rule, in ancient times. About three hundred bright stars have their own names. These are navigational stars, which have long been used by travelers for orientation.

Usually the names of the stars are very ancient – Sirius, Aldebaran, Vega, Betelgeuse and so on.

When working with the Andromeda constellation, it is advisable to use a schematic representation corresponding to a given constellation, which has been established in the collective Consciousness. It is necessary to take into account when working with this constellation, that distant galaxies Universe, constellations - they amplify the signal of your thinking, and in this case you can see that when you think on physical level corresponding to the constellation Andromeda, then the signal of your thought comes repeatedly, practically in maximum multiplicity and maximum speed reinforced. At In this case, it comes in a specific way.

That is, having considered, for example, the drawing corresponding constellation Andromeda, it can be seen that at concentrations of in this figure after reading the rows corresponding to the stars, on the thumb of the right hand you can see that the signal, making the work of the heart eternal comes straight from this big finger, which is depicted on the diagram of the constellation, in the picture. If concentrate after reading, mental pronunciation numbers of stars corresponding to the constellation on the index finger right hand, you can find that the signal coming from this point constellations, makes your brain eternal. And when concentrating on the diagram you can see right away on the wrist of your right hand and left hand that your the body becomes eternal in terms of your functioning thoughts. That is, the thought is structured in such a way that your thinking will make you eternal.

Then it turns out that for eternal life we need to do it differently arrange the structure of your thinking. In this case, your thought - it will be infinity itself, extended to the side drawing and as if absorbing the entire drawing. You can see that the reflected section of the constellation, it is ambiguous matches the pattern depicted on the constellation itself. If look at your left leg, then in the reflected area you can see your presence, that is, the effect of a distant mirror.

In this case, when you concentrate on the foot, corresponding to the drawing, left leg, you can, accordingly, make the left leg eternal. And when you concentrate on reflected area of this left leg, the foot of the left leg, then you you can see that your Consciousness is present as if physically at this point in space. There is an exchange of information physical and informational levels, while the fraction Consciousness, which has the function of infinite development, infinite access, connected with your Spirit, is present in this area physically. If the devices were installed, which can record the movement of your Consciousness, for example, near your body and are installed at this point of the constellation, at this areas of the constellation, then they would have recorded the same field on manifestation at the level of physical concepts.

Thus, in order to be transferred by Consciousness it is not easy mentally, but also from the point of view of the physical presence of Consciousness in this point, it is necessary to concentrate on the reflected part constellations. This gives, firstly, that your Consciousness can to be saturated with the eternity of space and the eternity of time. And such Consciousness has additional functions to ensure eternity of your physical body.

Therefore, the level of development of your physical body in the direction of eternity in this case will be determined precisely the structure of Consciousness, the system of knowledge distribution in your Consciousness and the system of how your thinking will be be produced in relation to even any household levels. The knowledge that is presented for this constellation suggests that that, after reading this knowledge, you will already know that the principle functioning of Consciousness, the principle of thinking can be other, distributed in space-time and associated with a concept that is related to the physical presence of Consciousness in a distant point in reality.

Therefore, you can easily move it in your Consciousness of your infinite presence in everything infinite future. And, having made such a mental analogy, you can pay attention to the fact that between the left and right hemispheres of your the brain begins to undergo a process of intensive mutual illumination. They start inside, essentially, on each other to shine with a certain, one might say extraterrestrial, but in essence your inner light. Your inner world is largely arranged depending on outer space. Here you you can find that the diagrams and drawings that are embedded in constellation, they were not laid down because it was wanted at the time to the artist, and in many ways also because that is how the outside world works from the point of interaction with your inner world. And this one the transitional boundary between the external and internal worlds, it is visible on the intersection of the drawing itself and the display. There is a certain a white strip on which you can draw any event, which will be realized in any case when you produce management is correct from the point of view of eternal life. And such an event like your eternal life must come true in any case, therefore all efforts are directed towards this event, all combinations of the presented images and all numerical systems, which are given here. Therefore, one single whole can be identified a number, approaching which at the level of Consciousness you see yourself eternal.

Typically, for this you can use, for example, a number eight, located at a great distance, and at a rapid movement of Consciousness in its direction You see that You are eternal.

In this way, you can study the functions of your eternal body.
and, accordingly, develop in this way.

Data on concentrations and methods in terms of the formation of the structure of Consciousness are presented taking into account information interactions of stars and space in the direction of ensuring eternal life for all.

After the rows that are given in this constellation Gemini, will be read by you or mentally spoken, can be perceived using the image of Gemini the following system of reality: the entire external world can be considered from the position of Consciousness that Consciousness perceives the outside world as your twin. You may be a little tense Consciousness, delve into the system of access to further thinking information where you see something familiar, but to understand, you just need to tune in to understanding. Imagine that twin looks at twin. They look similar, but each of them is different. Similar can be used in management, considering the external world as a system that is similar to you from the point of view of the possibility of eternal development, eternal life. And there is such an internal concept, a kind of determination at your level of inner world that you do not exclude that the entire outer cosmic world will be forever to exist, to have, in essence, eternal life.

This way you can highlight specific points on drawing of twins, where rays of eternal life will be directed at you. These rays, they will block access to unfavorable events, which may in some way hinder you in mastering methods of eternal life. This is how events are organized that do not hinder your actions that ensure eternal life.

It may turn out to be what you planned for a certain period, but eternal life is an infinite number of events. And here in In this case, the technology allows us to screen precisely the events, that prevent eternal life. Therefore, you are improving situation regarding the events that you are planning in some a certain tactical option, in a short time frame ahead. To short terms with the structure of eternal life can be attributed tens and hundreds of years and so on.

The point is that here we need to highlight such a unique the specifics of blocking events that impede eternal life based on a real understanding of eternal life; that is, non-cessation of life in the physical body ever. At the same time here the technology itself, for example, of resurrecting the departed works like a certain law of the inevitability of their general resurrection, so as at a certain level the light-optical characteristics of the world and the understanding of the world is transformed precisely into absolute eternal life for all. Here you can see that through the constellation Gemini you can by means of similarity, not to allow at such a level of Consciousness that can interfere with eternal life, and not just interfere with something or, on the simple principle that you live and possess fullness of life. This natural state is carried over impulse of your Consciousness to the level of the constellation Gemini, where in at one level you can see and project images of living so that the exchange of information between them leads to eternal life.

In this case, you can see that the symmetrical image, mirror image, it has the properties of action here.

Concentrating on the mirror image where the picture shows legs for example, you can see that through mirror image, considering that the image develops further, beyond the area that shown in the figure, we can project the further the system of development of events, that there are some specific ones here Your deeds will be realized.

This concentration helps to master some specific things from the point of view of eternal life that you can produce, for example, with physical hands. That is, when something do, right down to working with the computer keyboard, with all some of the objects closest to the body, here you can develop many levels of understanding of the processes that occur in human society.

Next, we can move on to understanding what is happening among animal world and through associative thinking see that you can transmit information about eternal life to everything around you lives, and everything that will live.

So, working through the constellation Gemini, you can see, that everything that will live can be seen in space between Gemini. Imagine a certain space, which exists in volumetric terms and is visible in the drawing between Gemini. Here will be the life of all living people who are now, perhaps they haven't even been born yet. Since you are in control of mandatory provision of eternal life to you and everyone, then you can consider the eternally living, who by their example give eternal life to all those around. The principle can be realized a certain leadership, when the eternally living are introduced into the structure collective Consciousness that level of control that the following naturally live forever.

When you work with the Gemini constellation, try to do the same to implement some of your specific tasks, including situational plan, concerning health systems, since eternal life implies the presence of health and the possibility restore health within the required manageable time frame. a person must always be prepared for a certain type of work from the point of view of health norms and events. Through the constellation Gemini It is possible to introduce such precise control, when even if there is some health problems, situations, then you can always bring these processes to a level of controllability, bring them to health standards. Normalize events so that the next level management will take place on a systemic basis of eternal life. You are in in this case you can receive such a fraction of Consciousness, such information that you already live forever, because you have everything in in the plan of eternal development, eternal life it turns out, and you control the situation of eternal life. Therefore, you are eternally live. This is a certain level of understanding, information internal proof for oneself, possibly including and for those around you, that what you live now, you are already eternal live because you have enough knowledge to make it in time restore health, to get healthy in time, to get healthy in time balance events and master everything in a timely manner necessary for the next period of time of eternal life.

Here you can pay attention to the frequency of some processes in this case denotes the eternity of these processes, so how at the end of one period you are already completely ready next era technology and you are practically there already you are located.

In this sense, the next constellation is Ursa Major shows a certain level of unique capture of future events. When you are still only building an event of the future, you are already in this you are, and this subtlety of future development, it gives such level of confidence in the security of you and others eternal life for all. In this case, even the certainty that you live forever and can make all the necessary efforts, which will ultimately lead to the provision of eternal life for those around you as well.

This can be done through the level of perception of a peculiarity capture, attracting future positive events. Information future creates confidence in the current time. In essence, you place control at the work level: next time interval and the preceding time interval. And accelerating in your Consciousness this gap, you give it properties eternity. Because eternity also has the property of high speeds for Consciousness, for fractions of Consciousness, which perceive infinity. But there is also a mechanical meaning here very clear. To understand a huge amount of information, you need To perceive this volume with consciousness, even to simply expand it Consciousness. This characteristic is a vector expansion of Consciousness, it and indicates speed. The faster you are, the faster you are, the infinitely expand your perception to the perception of eternal life, then you will get that there is a certain overlap, a certain capture, when your Consciousness takes such a form that everything the knowledge of eternity can be easily connected.

For example, the form of your Consciousness is the level of a hemisphere a certain diameter, and this sphere of all is exactly of this diameter events of eternal life. The superposition of all the events of eternal life on the inner region of the hemisphere leads to docking when knowledge are connected. Contact occurs. And contact is already a transfer experience defined in human understanding, transfer of knowledge. The Creator has arranged the world in such a way that the transfer of knowledge ensures and guarantees knowledge of the substance that transmits. Therefore, when you master the instrument of receiving knowledge from eternity, You become eternally living.

Connect the image of the left rear with a segment of light in your mind. paws of the Big Dipper with the right hind paw of the Big Dipper Bears. Then you need to mentally connect them with a segment of light image of her left ear with her right ear. Next, imagine that You look with physical vision into the eyes of the Bear and you will be able perceived from the image of the left side of the Big Dipper warm energy. This is the energy of life, eternal life 8888999. This is the energy of the stars of the constellation Ursa Major, connected with energy from an infinite number of other stars, which can be fill the body through the skin. The events you need can be fill them with this energy so that their energetic weight is greater in the collective Consciousness, to accelerate their implementation as follows:

- first mentally fill in the received in the described manner energy area of macrosalvation, which includes the salvation of all people;

-then through the area of the boundary of the spheroid of thought, in contact with this energy, receive a flow of light throughout the your body and events at the same time.

The image of the Big Dipper can be used to produce management of distant and future events, saturating them ensuring eternal life for you and for everyone around you. For This can be done through the mental drawing of the Big Dipper imagine a section of the physical sky and project it onto a real section of the sky, or, for example, just look at night at this area with physical vision. Then try to perceive as in the picture, approximately in the same projection as between the paws The Big Dipper quickly rolls around in a spherical shape a patch of light. It starts moving so fast that it's like creates its image and saturates it with light. And so you can do this control - consider this ball, which moves in the form a light ball, for example, a second ago, and then consider the current or future tense. Between different there are certain time intervals that resemble layers of information areas that contain absolutely distant events, like some plates that are built from the future is what is happening now or will happen in the future a second ahead. And, considering such a process, one can already now find feedback with those distant future events.

The Creator, having created the whole world in a single impulse, built and internal system of connections. And then, thinking about how, for example, the Big Dipper walks, provided that it fixed in the constellation in a certain part of the sky, it is possible to see that movement is also statics, a certain internal statics. When this happens - rapid movement spheroidal light, - then you can see that this is it certain areas of intersection with eternity. At the same time, perception of a beam coming from your physical brain into imagination, combined with thinking, towards the site here this rapid movement of light in the region of the Big Dipper, allows you to fill your brain and your entire body with a certain energy of knowledge about eternal development, about how the distant future the information can be used to now adjust events.

For this, you can also imagine such a figurative picture that a person who is going downhill at high speed on a sled, he is in a certain direction, and the one who is below is always can either step aside or somehow hold back the sled, help this person, if his speed is very high - perhaps he need help. So, a certain level of internal mutual assistance between future movement and future events, and you now - this is an organic part of your personality, the whole personality, spread to infinity. And it also needs control. That is, try to connect mechanisms more expanded control over oneself and one's situations, rather than simply what you see with your physical vision, you perceive as the control is as if torn away from you, and try to feel everything the future as an internal inseparable connection with you - all your future events. This, of course, makes the perception somewhat burdensome, but nevertheless reflects the real picture of the world eternal life.

Note that the Big Dipper has its left arm raised. the back paw and the right front paw, that is, the support is done through symmetrically located body systems, manifests itself system of reaction to the external world. One left paw is located as if on some surface, and at the same time the left rear one is raised. Accordingly, in a similar way - the right one rests, and the right one raised. It turns out that at one level there exists both a rigid support of the action, as well as the action extended into dynamics. Combining statics and dynamics through the composition of Bolshoi Bears, through the reflected system in a mirror understanding allows you to get closer to a harmonious level of perception interactions of your brain, your Consciousness, perception with endless inner and outer world.

It is necessary to pay attention to the fact that it is precisely the infinity of the inner the world greatly expands one's knowledge. Because, having looked at how inside yourself, inside your Soul, inside your physical body, you can see that infinite structure of Consciousness, which knows practically everything about the entire world around him, and finds in himself those structures of the world, those systems of knowledge that allow you expand the inner infinity to the perception of all eternity.

At a certain level, when they fit together harmoniously, You will see that your physical body is an inseparable part infinity, eternity. That you move in the physical space does not mean that you are cut off from everything around you eternity, just as the dynamics of the Big Dipper's movement is not says that it, this imaging system is in dynamics. There is dynamics in the image itself, in the statics itself there is a dynamic of eternal development, eternal life. And you, like that So, you can find points in your body that mean Your eternal life and considering which you live forever. You you can admire them, see how they are in the form of certain areas of light move along the surface of the skin, while their the movement is somewhat unusual. The movement of such areas of light, it as if it creates, for example, fabric and at the same time can be so be harmonious and connected with the fabric, that at the entrance of this area of light in the skin it is visible that when approaching you this the area of light turns into your body. And in this way you can see that the construction of your body also comes from the outside outer space, from the outer level of your Spiritual peace.

The Creator, when creating the physical body, created it invulnerable, that is, is eternal. Therefore here you can see that you can these areas of light to regulate. You can accept something, not something accept, somewhere do management, corresponding to your understanding, representation now. However, in all cases it is clear, that the harmony of knowledge, the harmony of understanding, it is always higher, than, for example, a system of no access. And so, the more You know, the more harmoniously you react to something situations related to the external and internal world, with some events. Therefore, through concentrations on the numbers of the stars of the Great

The she-bear can experience inner harmony based on knowledge. Knowledge is harmonious. The more of it, the more harmonious system. It is precisely creative knowledge. Therefore it turns out that You can build a provision for eternal life simply by knowledge that you have now and that you can access at any time add so that there is time for the next addition and this one there was enough time for the provision of eternal life to be mandatory.

When concentrating using the constellation Canis Major the following technology must also be applied: having considered drawing of Canis Major, focusing on the right and left ear, then on the tail, then on the right and left front paws, then on the right and left hind legs, make a vector wire control, that is, a light beam, into the spine area, approximately in the middle of the back. Then, increasing concentration, consider how the information of the Big One is reproduced Psa, that is, the principle of creation, restoration of dog information. When you have looked at this information, you can see that everything phenomena of reality, they can also be restored by means of special concentration on the form of this information, which is embedded either in the collective Consciousness, or you perceive it in yours Consciousness, distinguishing through observation or simply perception.

In this case, the concentration in the constellation Canis Major, if it if we consider it in terms of reflection, that is, symmetry, it is clear that, looking at the reflected left leg of Canis Major, one can see the structure of the organization of the tissue of human matter. From this it follows that any element of reality contains a certain an impulse that is, as it were, in a mirror image, in another information where the creation of man is carried out. And in any reflected area relating to any object of information, we can find the area of restoration and eternal life of man. This is also one of the laws of information development when considering structures of stars in the direction of eternal development.

When considering the constellation of Libra, one needs to take control into account consider also a certain internal facet, which corresponds to the global scale of information development. For even huge, large volumes of information exist a certain harmony of development. If this harmonious structure highlight, then we can highlight the structure of love, which is all organizes. Having made the concentration in this technology on scales of Libra, that is, mentally concentrating on in the image of the scales, one can see the manifestation of the level, through which access to the perception of love information occurs. From here you can arrange any fragment in this way information in management that the element of love can be present in this information – which means stability and factor of endless development towards life.

When governed through the constellation Aquarius in the direction of eternal life and eternal development can be achieved by applying technology, related to the structure of the water being poured out. Having considered the element, for example, a bowl from which water pours out can be seen like this the principle of control is that in this geometric place where the water pours out, you can see a certain dynamic of the beginning the emergence of water that pours out. At the same time, the factor that water pours out of a closed bowl, from a closed vessel, in this in this case it is not of fundamental importance, because it is precisely the movement at the level where it begins that is considered the poured water is perceived. Using this control, you can mentally enter this stream of water and see, as if to feel it dynamics, and here you can see that the structure of life, which interconnected with water, it can be organized in perception dynamic systems.

That is, when you look at, for example, a drawing of a constellation Aquarius, then you can see that the body is organized, including in structure where water comes out of the vessel. In this case, future events spread into the structure of the incoming flow from the right side, where the water is already visible. Past events, they are inside vessel, and in this sense any thing can be differentiated as a system that relates essentially degrees to past events or future events. And in this case, since the past has only informational value, one can single out a certain unique, weighty structure, which characterizes the influence of past events through a thing. Once you see that such an element exists in reality, you can see certain points of influence in general throughout the entire space, where we can consider certain spheroids of influence, which occur taking into account a certain arrangement of past events. Within these spheroids, the structure of future ones can be distinguished. events, to consider such a process, and it indirectly concerns mirror reflection, that future events are in the center these spheroids around which are located the elements of the past events, essentially the organization of the future. It grows as a unique optical system from the past.

In this case, for example, for distant stars, the light is divided in such a way that it captures both the past and future events. The light of the future, it is actually as if mixed with light of the past. You can see that the real substance is one, that is, the Creator, organizing all reality, in this in this case, He manifests Himself in the fact that for Him the matter of organization events, it is neutral. Through it it can be organized as both past and future events.

Therefore, since a person had some fixed past, that is, he performed some actions in the physical body, then this can be extended to any future event by a peculiar system of transformations. That is, the body, for example, washed by water, comes out of another geometric system, from the same water. You can watch how a person entered the river, swam and came out on the same bank, for example. And it turns out that in a certain number of events have taken place in the water. You can see it here the mechanism of development of Consciousness, when the transformation of one and of the same matter for an infinite time. The resource of matter is infinite. So it turns out that it looks like some kind of indestructible matter that can constantly reproduce in future events.

Combining the human body with the flow of water, that is, mentally by imagining or imagining that a person is floating along a river, one can see the structure of the co-organization of the human physical body and external matter, such as water. It is clear that the body is always lives and develops eternally.

When controlling using constellation information

The charioteer needs to see such a principle as the principle assistance to other systems. When a person develops, is born, gains knowledge, he in a certain way contributes to the whole world to develop forever. This is inherent in the fact that when interacting information of a person with the surrounding world, first of all with systems of living organisms, one can see their focus on man as a system that provides these organisms knowledge of eternal development based even on the form of the body. Therefore, for example, by studying the perception of humans by animals, one can see that they perceive, first of all, the light coming from physical body, at the level of the internal plane of perception, which controls the animal itself, and is then perceived the body at the level of the concept that corresponds to the Spirit animal, that is, the internal level of the animal. Thus, the transfer of knowledge comes first, and then there is the action of the body.

Based on this, it is always possible to find a control angle when the animal will not be aggressive towards a person, because the level of knowledge transfer is realized. This level of absence aggression, level of peacefulness, creativity, it can be spread by concentrating on the human body and concentrating separately on animals. At the same time, all intermediate information – this is creation for eternal development. Because in the structure eternal development system of unconditional creation and development should be implemented. In this case, it is quite optimal and This action is performed quickly in this management.

When managing using information from the constellation Lupus we can consider the principle of management that characterizes absence of hostility from any systems when properly movement and dissemination of human information.

Here we can consider the following level of management: considering the image of a wolf as a certain sphere information, you can see that the information corresponding to a person, is the structure of the organization of this sphere. And so to apply in the case of any aggressive systems, the principle is that your management, it kind of envelops the system possible aggression and builds it in terms of non-aggressive content. In this way, the removal of contact with You, with someone in a system where aggression may occur, and granting another status by building the next sphere creation.

When controlling using constellation information Bootes needs to consider such an element immediately control, as control on the axis of symmetry between the reflected constellation area and image. Here at the reflection level you can see that the connection, for example, at the level of the heel of the left legs are the level on which you can concentrate to be completely secure in management, in information, in all event structures of a person from possible problems, relating to damage, for example, to the physical body. In this case, the energy of a peculiar growth of the eternal body is created. That is, by producing this concentration, we can see that directly from a certain light flow goes up from the left leg, which, as would begin to rise throughout the body, and this is the eternity of the body, which independently organizes the body itself in the process of its development, movement. This is the light that the body itself reproduces and is located inside this body. Any element consisting of light, reproduces the body. Here in this case one can see the principle self-reproduction of the body from itself. That is, it is enough look at even one cell, and you can see that this cell can reproduce the entire body. This principle says that an ever-evolving person, he is also autonomous. He can develop forever and live forever only based on its own physical body.

In the outer space visible to physical vision, There are 14 regions surrounding the planet Earth that contain living organisms, close and identical to humans. In 3 areas of which, including two areas where the same as on Earth live, people, they mastered through the development of consciousness the technology of eternal life. That is, almost twenty percent of the total number, and this means that the eternal life of living organisms is quite a widespread and knowable phenomenon of the Universe.

In the newspaper "Your Home Consultant", No. 1-2 (45-46) January 2000 g., on page 17, I published in the article "Sensation! Burdocks on ...Mars!" the control forecast that there is data on Mars water and life, although there was no such information from the rovers at that time was. Then the rovers confirmed this information, which was published in all central media information. The purpose of the control forecast for space spaces to discover life and transform reality together with the collective consciousness towards the presence of life.

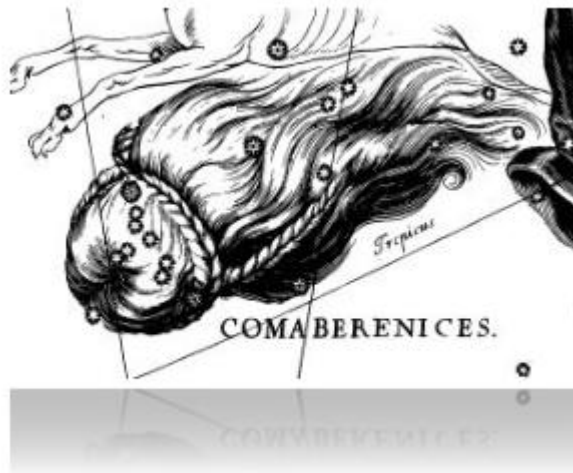

Thus, through the expansion of consciousness to its interactions with outer space You are similar can perceive information about living places in space, simultaneously manage the organization of life in specific places of interaction of consciousness with space and transmit there mentally knowledge of eternal life. At the same time, you can immediately to receive back already mastered and developed knowledge, having tuned in to the radiation of the future of the star you directed knowledge of eternal life.

For you, this action may take seconds, and the sphere of knowledge about eternal life You can get developed for millions of years. So as a line of movement of the mental sphere of your knowledge to the star is a beam of radiation from the present (true) position stars, and the line of movement of the sphere of your already developed knowledge from the star there is a beam of radiation from the future star, located often millions of years in the future from the current time.

To more quickly master technologies to ensure eternal in life it is important to work with such categories of time, touching with which the human consciousness quickly gets used to large time values, and as a consequence, this may manifest itself here rejuvenating effect with healing. In this way you can to teach oneself and others eternal life based on current knowledge and perceiving through radiation from the future Your own knowledge developed by other people in space.

Looking at the constellation Coma Berenices in your Consciousness, you can see that each hair depicted or imagined when a person looks with his physical sight to a constellation in the night sky or generally perceives it as something in this way this area of space, then each hair – it means a certain level of movement of some information. And if to penetrate the internal structure of this hair, then it is possible to see that information is initially neutral and has, for example, golden color. You can see that the characteristic information, such as golden color, is what you get from movements.

If you mentally stop the movement, then the information begins to acquire a white color, and at the same time the action is visible. The creator who organizes information. Thus, color is a control characteristic. You can, for example, by going through the control area on each hair, you will see that the more you gain control, that is, mentally move forward with information on each hair, especially since it brightens. And from here the general conclusion is that any movement, any development leads to a greater growth of creative forces. That is, creation is the inevitable future, and, accordingly, that which can produce good, creation, then it must be eternal.

Thus, eternity is inherent in the very essence of man, for he can act. Any action leads to eternity development and eternity of life.

By moving your consciousness through the areas you have chosen outer space You can create controls actions in relation to all matter in the Universe in the direction eternal life, including matter beyond the indistinguishable darkness, so that create protection against objects with undefined properties in a timely manner the moment of access to them by functions. Scientists are now starting to to be more concerned with traces of hidden matter, which is many times more more than the substance known to us that makes up the visible

"Management Option – Forecast", No. 2(15), February 2003:
"Giving a forecast for June 2002 for space space "VU-PROGNOZ" No. 5(6), G. Grabovoi said that "It is necessary to consider it at the level of scientific developments the ability to manage optical information of this type, when extremely distant objects can be differentiated not only in the optical signal... In that case, we will be able to identify any non-specific object with a different wave nature or a super-dense organization. This makes it possible protect against objects with undefined functions, dangerous planet..."

That is, one must be able to differentiate information even when, when it is implicitly revealed in optics in order to distinguish the degree —black, weak signal, or, in other words, to recognize in in the dark background of space such physical systems that can be neutralized... Some other things could also stand out the space around the optical signal (its space decrease and transition to undifferentiated perception for telescope). It is necessary to be able to obtain information "indistinguishable darkness."

The last scientific conference that took place at the end of 2002 was called "High Energy Astrophysics: Today and tomorrow”, organized by the Russian Academy of Sciences at the Institute of Space research. We found information about this in press releases conferences and on the Internet. They especially refer to Director of the M. Planck Institute of Astrophysics in Germany, Head. laboratory of the IKI of Academician R. Sunyaev. We present the most interesting data from his review of astrophysical problems and achievements that prove G. Grabovoi’s predictions.

At the end of the year, leading publications published lists of the most important problems of fundamental science. Most of them are in astrophysics. We are experiencing, according to Sunyaev, a unique time, which akin to the era of great geographical discoveries. Scientists repeat Magellan's path, only in the Universe. Everywhere there they find traces of hidden matter, which is 15 times more than the known to us the substances of which the visible world consists.

The presence of hidden matter and the amount of —dark matter— confirmed in various ways - by measuring the gravitational fields of galaxy clusters in X-rays and with distortion —gravitational lenses— (images of distant galaxies through clusters of galaxies). And the Nobel Prize-winning problem Neutrino oscillations proved that neutrinos have mass. Its lower limit has been calculated so far. The contribution of those previously considered weightless neutrinos into the average density of matter in the Universe with the Hubble Space Telescope has shown that the optical spectrum radiation cannot be reconciled with X-rays in any of the accepted theoretical models. Real science is where the new the information does not fit into the known framework...".

In the constellation of the Raven, it is necessary to consider the information a principle that relates to the structure of a bird's flight in the air, when the wings flap, a bulge is formed under the wings a certain movement of air. The interaction of air with a feather The crow in this case is the level of management that allows you to make certain decisions related to such systems, when the decision is made for some reasons difficult: either there is not enough information or there is no need it is right now to make a decision, since this is, for example, an event distant. We can consider how to bring these vortices closer air and see that there are certain differences between them. lines where the flows do not contain vortices. Based on this, we can see that in any information there are always certain systems through which you can get what you need management, including in the absence of necessary information, lack of action.

Looking at the constellation Hercules, you can see at the level reflected structures of your Consciousness, that your Consciousness has function including both the secondary level of light and primary. Your level of consciousness, which is the light emitted by you, falling on some information, for example on the constellation Hercules, is reflected in the form element of light. And this element of light is already reflected, containing information about the constellation Hercules, but nevertheless this the element of light is, after all, in its cause Your Consciousness.

This next system of Consciousness that acquires a unique experience, information as if by itself, interacting optically with other systems, it forms a certain inner intuition, a certain intuition of the Soul, actions of the Soul. And when you see that your Soul intersects with Consciousness or with action as a result of gaining experience, then a system of control concentration arises, which characterizes personal attitude to information. Your personality and forms and somehow influences information. Therefore, in the system of eternal development, the personality that is more developed in this direction, has more technologies in the direction of providing eternal life for herself and for everyone. She is this person, that is, such a person can achieve more accurately in a shorter time control systems in the direction of ensuring eternal life for due to the internal connection of the action of the Soul, Spirit, Consciousness; account, for example, of understanding only Consciousness, how it works element of light Consciousness. Similarly, one can act in understanding and when the element of Soul or Spirit operates.

Considering the light optical action of the Soul and Spirit, also it is possible to receive unified control already through Consciousness. And, accordingly, one can receive control through the Spiritual information structure.

When you produce a control such that there is resistance to your control, for example, from one, two or more sources, then, looking at the constellation Hydra, you can in this way to implement your management: when you imagine that you are looking at outer space in constellation Hydra, that is, to this part of the sky, then you bring yourself out some point of control. You mentally look for a point where you at the moment you are, for example, in a room, or you mentally imagine yourself where you are, looking at constellation Hydra.

There is a point here where you can imagine that you are, for example, at night somewhere on the street, outside the house and look up - that's one view. And another view - when you look from the perspective that you are somewhere in apartment, from its real, not imagined physical body that you already identify by location in space.

So it turns out that in order to look at constellation, imagining that you are looking at, there are several options for accessing this information: taking into account your location location somewhere or you can simply do it like this – imagine that you are going out and looking, that is, make a volitional control.

So, based on the presence of a sign of will, in this case you can see that the volitional factor, it clearly reflects any the number of possible information attacks that interfere somewhere there with your control to the side eternal development. Outlining the element of will, which characterizes the choice of some level of management, you can always to see that the will is the way. Concentration of the idea, just like that ideas of eternal life are already a volitional factor. If you just If you stick to it, then your path is already clear. You can go, and You are not available for any real hard work counteraction.

Therefore, in this control system it is important to maintain the structure of target management, which, when combined with volitional level gives a very fast system of development of eternal life. When You can already say for a certain factor of the current time, that you have the technology of eternal life, because you have a systematic approach, in management, and at the same time you can personally guarantee that in any one or another situations you will make the right, accurate decision regardless of any counteraction systems. The solution from the point of view ensuring eternal life for oneself and for everyone.

For the constellation Dove, governance can be viewed from the point of view vision and also an element of collective Consciousness, corresponding to the Dove, that is, the symbol of peace. Considering, for example, an element of vegetation that is located in the beak of dove, one can see that the collective Consciousness is determined influences the outer space, the outer Universe and outer space, reacts impulsively with the system collective Consciousness. If we consider an element of such information, like black holes in outer space, then it is clear that when such information is disseminated, this information does not reach the information corresponding to the shape of the pigeon.

That is, in Consciousness one can define a certain research a mechanism of external space that works on certain laws. Everyone can even write this out for themselves. mechanism and explore all outer space, based on the comparison of elements of collective Consciousness and outer level of space. It can be seen that the collective Consciousness transforms the cosmic in a certain way space. In this case, one can consider a very effective mechanism of protection against any space systems by saturating the collective Consciousness with certain forms, images that create the world, give eternal development, eternal life.

When working with information from the constellation Canes Venatici, it is necessary,

First of all, consider the level of the concept of speed in space space. It is necessary to consider the area with a certain speed, which is ahead of anything fast. If there is any speed – the movement of information, the movement of light, – that is, what is ahead. For example, we can assume that the dog that is taller by in the picture, he is slightly ahead of the dog that is below, or vice versa. That is, it is necessary to identify the structure following some dynamics.

When you are behind one moving geometric shape you identify the following structure - in this case we were talking about speed, - then this can be abstractly transferred to the fact that if You see a form, you will always see the next form. Here we can move to the level of such thinking that, when considering any event - form, you can always find the next form. And this is already eternal life!

It is enough to perceive yourself once as eternal life, it is already, in essence, and ready. This is the kind of knowledge that can be realized in oneself with working with the constellation Canes Venatici in terms of achieving eternal life.

In the constellation Virgo it is necessary to consider a certain level of management that relates to a person's personal qualities. When you look at a person, even a photograph of a stranger person, then personal qualities are perceived in a certain way level based on the image, and you can see some an event structure that concerns a given person.

Through the information of the constellation Virgo, one can see how events the lines are joined at a certain level, which refers to the human body. At the same time, a unique spiral system development of information – it is endless even in the local segment.

By perceiving information in such a way that when you look on a piece of information, then you see infinity, that is, eternity this information as if with physical sight, you you begin to move to a level of your development that can, for example, be called intelligent vision, that is, vision, containing the mind. Vision that does not simply perceive something, but at the same time it is a unique level, similar to the action of the brain when you comprehend what you are doing perceive, immediately at the point where you perceive. And then this is already a powerful mechanism for ensuring eternal life and eternal development.

Looking at the information about the constellation Dolphin, we can consider that phase of collective Consciousness where it is known that The dolphin has high intellectual functions. From this we can see that there is compatibility between the human mind and the mind of a dolphin, or any other creature at the level endless development according to the common goals of peacefulness and creation. Based on this, considering the creative faction at once infinite future, one can see the absolute connection in terms of knowledge, understanding of any systems, any Consciousness.

And if you go even further, you can see the glowing image of a man, the form of a person, - which organizes any person. There is a certain averaged information that can restore and give eternal life to any person. It is evident that this is happening in combination with all creative information. With eternal life we need to try to highlight such areas in this constellation and to perceive from them the light that organizes the person himself at the expense of interactions with peaceful systems. If any system is not developed in this direction, then, accordingly, it is necessary to immediately to make management for its additional development.

By managing information through the constellation Draco, you can see that information is structurally divided into the control area and the area included in the control area. If you consider, for example, the image of the Dragon, then the higher to the head the dragon is moving, the more saturated with opportunity in the management of this faction of information. Which is closer to the tail of the Dragon, that is less saturated. It can be seen that there is some hierarchy of information, but at the same time the information that is part of the substructure, that is, it is controlled information, contains the control levers for the information that controls by it. In any controlled segment there is a segment that controls any other segment. This is the principle of equality in management. The only question is where and how this happens. This control and is visualized whether it is visible or not.

From this, one can see deep internal connections in management, where, in essence, there is a certain simple principle of universal harmony and there is no discrediting of one level to others.

Perceiving such a structure of the Universe, of the entire external world, you can see that this harmony is very beautiful, dynamic, and here a form of beauty arises which says that beauty is this is already the next level, which is from physical reality is perceived as a level of perception. If the level of beauty develops the control system to infinity, then the world will become transparent, precisely from the point of view of management, transparent, stable, beautiful, in a certain sense absolutely eternal.

Therefore, beauty is one of the levels of realization of the eternal life.

Moreover, the same level can be distinguished in any other constellation. Thus, control occurs through structures beautiful movement in control. And beautiful movement can be realized as immediately precise, achieving the goal faster.

When looking at the constellation Unicorn, you need to work out a certain position in perception, which refers to the level a certain sequence in management. You do not change their attitude to this sequence and at the same time achieve results faster.

Thus, the task of control using information of the constellation Unicorn to ensure eternal life is that you, for example, having made some management systems in the direction of eternal development, you can either develop them, or study something else consistently, but again in the direction eternal development. When you do this in a number of cases or mainly in all matters, then your work will speed up significantly accordingly management. You can get ahead of unnecessary events and immediately receive the necessary events for eternal development and eternal the lives of you and everyone.

When considering the level of control in the constellation Altar you can see the principle of information dissemination when information spreads very quickly from some local place, and at the same time, peculiar levels fly back information about this information.

For example, considering how the wind spreads in different from some place, you can see a certain thread, the connection between the volume of wind that is already from a certain place flew somewhere further and only left behind information thread, information connection with itself. Considering, that wind is the elements of air, which additionally disperse, then you can see the internal system of organization peace, which occurs at the internal level, is sufficient deep connections, that instead of an event, information about it remains event. And these are like peculiar threads, even strings sometimes taut, which can be seen. If you look at them carefully If you look closely, you can find out what event took place here. If pull a certain string or thread, then the event can be modify.

Applying such a principle to the future, to future information, you can see that an event can always be made creative, just by understanding the information structure an event that has not yet happened, because the principle of working with the event of the past is the same as the principle of working with the event future. Having learned to work with information in principle, always it is possible to make it ensure eternal life, regardless of how far into the future you use to build eternal life for yourself and everyone around you.

Here it is also clear that for work from your point of view Consciousness in general does not care in principle how much time ahead, the future you make management, providing you with eternal life. It can be eternity at once, it can be centuries ahead and so on.

That's why this unified principle is what it talks about that you are the manager who has received knowledge a certain level, which ensures the entire future eternal development already now. And this is one of the guaranteed factors, proving that eternal life is achievable by you, that you you already have it, and the task is to implement it simply in time, in infinite time.

Considering the concept of painting and considering the level information about the artist who paints the pictures can be seen a certain connection between the painting and the person who painted it, and the whole external reality. The information contained in the picture itself, is the reality that is fixed on the plan, for example, physical, when an artist paints a picture, if we we are considering precisely the structure of this concept of “painter” in one of the areas of collective Consciousness.

But we can also consider the figurative meaning of these two words. Lively – scribe, that is, he writes with life. This is how a certain the structure of eternity in the paintings of famous masters, as well as life is originally eternal. When you act with life, it remains life. The principle of action of life is manifested here. It has many Spiritual, cultural systems in perception, in understanding, and is defined as, for example, a person, a personality, carrying life. Perceiving this state of yours or, therefore, being in such a state, creating such a state, you, accordingly, have eternal life in its natural manifestation. When it harmonious because of the desire for it, it is your natural state. Through the constellation of the Painter you

Looking at the constellation of Camelopardalis at the level of perception, one can to see a certain conciseness of information links, a certain symmetry, harmony, which relates to the parts the body of a living being. If you look at the image, created in the collective Consciousness of the constellation Giraffe, then you can see that the body parts are so harmonious in shape built so that they can reproduce themselves independently at the expense of a certain harmonious dynamics of their arrangement in relation to each other.

Perceiving the shape of the human body in this way through a kind of lens of information of the constellation Camelopardalis, it is possible to see that a person can always create himself independently at the physical level as from any molecule, cell, part physical body, as well as from one's own thoughts, Soul, Consciousness, Spirit, and even from the idea of eternal life, from information from the outside world.

You can, based on this, see in any object information, no matter what, that created this object exactly like that. If you ask yourself why any object information, any living being is exactly what it is How you perceive it and what it is, then here you can certain answers can be found in the structure of the body of this object itself. You can see the inner harmony that led and created such a reality that the Creator, who created the very essence of this harmony and reality, has already determined the subsequent systems, when reality itself develops harmoniously because it originally laid down as harmonious and eternal. Perceiving it as such world, you can always see that endless time you can implement management based on the principle of internal harmony of any object of information.

In this case, this harmony can be considered at orientation towards eternal life and the realization of eternal life.

By looking at the information about the constellation Crane, you can discover that when in the collective Consciousness the process of swinging wings reflect, for example, some physical structure, that is, the bird can, for example, take off or stay in place, flapping their wings, here you can see that some systems, living beings in general, have a certain the level of information transfer, deeper and more static, extended to eternity, based on its state, and not movements.

The ability to perceive the state of the living and at the level of the Soul in general, any object of information, such in relation to which there is a level of staticity in the collective Consciousness, which allows consider the actions of love and see that the physical bodies on level of information grows from eternity. A huge area information - as a kind of wall of eternity, and there happens saturation of bodies with eternity. Bodies seem to touch this information. If we consider this information wall, then it turns out that, in essence, the presence of any information already means eternity in the development of this or that system, this or that object or living being. You can see the internal connection, through which one can learn the technology of building some or objects of information, including technical ones, based on the eternity of everything that can be realized or has already been realized.

When looking at the constellation Ophiuchus, you need to imagine how a person perceives a snake when, for example, he takes it in his right hand. This sensation that arises can accordingly point out that by looking at this constellation, one can determine how a feeling is born and the process of spreading the feeling throughout the body.

You can see that the feeling that moves the body is also an external factor of movement. In practice, a person who has a certain feeling, acts accordingly. Here you can consider the internal structure when the information of feeling as would overwhelm a person, direct him and move his physical body in one direction or another. It is important in these external systems feelings that take over the body and direct it to one or another side, to introduce the structure of eternity. When you are in everything external, that determines the movement of the body, enter eternity, respectively and the movement of the physical body will be eternal. The physical body, thus thus, it can change by expanding its sensitivity and will accept any information as providing eternal life for yourself and everyone.

Due to the fact that the task of eternal life and the implementation of due tasks to ensure eternal life - this is management at the level physical matter, that is, when controlled through the numbers of stars for eternal life is achieved by the eternal life of the physical body man, then we can consider the principle of achieving eternal life of some other living creature, for example a snake, so in the physical body. At the same time, there is a general principle of striving physical body, information body of another living being towards the physical body of a person. According to this general principle, when the area of information that relates to the concept The consciousness of the snake reaches such a level that it can be considered this is Consciousness, as having the form of a human body or something close to it to her, then contact arises in terms of peacefulness, when a snake does not strike a person, is not aggressive to him creature.

The principle that is implemented here is that, when considering any information objects, if you see that the information object has internal content, internal essence information that affects your or others' events; such as, that one can consider the image of a person or that in the direction of the image a person this information develops, then we can say that it is correct, accurate from the point of view of achieving eternal life development of any information object. If it deviates from the image of a person, accordingly, needs to be adjusted so that the development of information went in this form. Then you will be able to do counter movement on the path of development of any element of reality in side of the human form, and the entire external world will become accessible to eternal development and eternal life of your physical body and physical bodies of all.

In this case, we can also consider such a concept as wisdom, in the collective Consciousness, when wisdom itself is considered as a system that determines the next event after perceived events. Wisdom is the possibility management of those events that are not yet open and clearly not yet distributed. This is a technology for the formation of wisdom through constellation Serpens.

Looking at the Golden Fish in your perception, you can see, that your Consciousness creates an element in a certain way reality in outer space. Here lies such a phenomenological system of Consciousness, when, looking through some object, you, first of all, encounter it in your Consciousness.

This reveals a certain law, which consists in the fact that Consciousness is built initially, even before the creation of the object. The human consciousness is invested with what was originally there, even before creation of all external even physical reality, in the form in which in which this reality now exists, or before the development and self-development of this reality.

Thus, it can be seen that the entire external world is reflection of the own structure of Consciousness. All objects realities were already laid down from the start. And if we go deeper consider at the level of the Soul, then they are initially controlled in side of eternal life. Having built such a way of interaction – transmission of information from the Soul and higher in information, in different sides where the Soul is considered to be in the physical body man, one can see that the general management, the management of everything the world at the level of the perception system, at the level of Consciousness, this is what that already exists in a person. Sometimes it is just necessary remember how to get your control into this state the control level, and then ensuring eternal life is an always attainable element, relating only to that you are doing management in this direction.

When controlling using constellation information
The Indian can be considered the principle of interaction with external elements of reality that can determine one way or another human life. You can see a certain level information corresponding to possible events that can somehow radically influence a person, and intuitively, level of perception to feel this level as if physically body.

This information, it concerns the physical body, and through dreams or through some signs, some events, a person sees that something, for example, is approaching in information. Here the task in any case is – to reach the information level of eternal development. By concentration on the constellation of the Indian can always be obtained the correct level of information to get out of the situation is precisely in the side of eternal development, when any information This issue will not affect you in any adverse way.

When you look at the constellation Cassiopeia with your physical sight, then you can find that from this constellation - noticeably as if on the physical level, that is, through the eyes, the body, there is a certain light, which you perceive as light, but in fact it is more like element as a flow of information. Thus, it can be seen that information in itself is not yet light as such, because what we perceive as information is not always perceived as light. But information can organize light, just as light can organize the concept of information.

At the level of geometric logic, it is quite simple here: light
- that's one thing, information about light is another. This other thing is what which is also an information level, which applies to you. Transformation of information at the state level, that is, without bringing it to the level of light, it certainly allows

Looking at the constellation Carina, one can at the information level to see such a factor that all the external space that surrounds the physical body, especially that which touches the body, even if it's air or you're leaning against a tree, or you touched the water with your hand, at the moment of contact it kind of starts create your body. Everything that surrounds you, even your thoughts, they create a physical body. The transition from creation, from physical objects to thoughts in which it is asserted, fixed, that your the physical body currently physically exists and is a structure that allows you to organize your thoughts in such a way, establishes that your physical body will be eternal. In this case, the principle of analogy applies, which is comprehended by thought.

By applying the control of the constellation Cetus, one can see that transformation from life that is in water to life that is in water which is outside the water, it is the action of a collective Consciousnesses where different forms of life are united, such as those in water, as well as those not in water.

There is a certain difference between these forms of living beings. docking at the level of collective Consciousness. It is evident that the phase collective Consciousness that determines living beings, being in water, it is a more controlled phase than the one that identifies living creatures that are outside of water.

By way of reverse reasoning, one can discover the law of development, when the level outside the water can reach the level, which is located even higher in other cosmic spaces, developing life. Since there is life as a form of space, then space can develop according to the information of life. Level the development of consciousness in living beings in water can be developed up to more free movement in accordance with the principle equality of information to the level of free movement of living beings creatures that are outside the water.

If we follow the further logic of such a study through The consciousness of this constellation, then in water can be developed so much same life as outside the water. So when you look through Consciousness of cosmic spaces, then you can see that in those spaces where there is water, that is, some kind of liquid medium, there may well be life. In this case, considering the star 70 constellation Cetus, you can see that there are life forms there that are characterized by the fact that the external substance, which is liquid, is also a form of life for those who are in

of this substance.

When viewed from the outside, information is combined and it turns out that this external indistinguishability of information, when living beings are in a kind of interaction with the liquid structure, which is also a living being, led to that the form of development of civilization is such that they can develop any developed forms, but which can develop in such a way that they do not emit information to the outside space. Therefore, a large amount of external space shows no signs of life, although there is life in many places.

To recognize this, you need to be at the level of telescopes to introduce additional functions: computer processing of light with microprocessor accounting of information, which gets from the light, and then the release of life forms will already be more precise. The task of identifying different forms of life is one from the tasks of development of humanity and any civilization in general, because knowledge of forms and their development will allow you to more quickly to carry out the tasks of developing eternal life throughout the cosmic space.

A life form identical to humans that exists in the area Polaris, that is, the same people as on Earth, but having mastered the laws of eternal life and spread life in area of the constellation Ursa Major, allows concentration on the numbers of the constellation Ursa Major to master the laws of eternal human life.

To realize the management goal of achieving eternal life all living organisms can apply concentrations on the numerical series corresponding to the constellation Ursa Major, and on the first five numbers of the series of the constellation Cetus, which continue

The number series of the Big Dipper: 2173196481851489.

This principle of continuation of one row by another can be apply at concentrations when you want to combine control characteristics from different stars or constellations.

In working towards ensuring eternal life for yourself and everyone using the constellation Capricorn we can see that through the star 35 of the constellation Capricorn is crossed by a line of communication between the material level of realization of Consciousness and the level that manifests itself before the material. It can be seen that the functions some stars, as elements of the organization of the whole world, are defined by the fact that specific ones pass through them information links, one might say channels, with a certain level of information that is even visualized and which define what we perceive as telepathy, as a form thinking.

Thus, we can conclude that in the Universe there are forms of matter that are considered to us thought, and at a great distance possessing the structure of what our thoughts possess, these are elements of physical reality. And thus, we can say that thought is at a certain point space is reified.

Therefore, if we deduce the thought according to the laws of development of this space, for example, in the direction of resurrection, then, naturally, a person can resurrect another, because he simply materialize his thought, simply by knowing the structure external space, and thus can exclude death from an event entirely of one's own, for example, and other people's. This is eternal life, which is built on the basis of thinking - that which always with a person.

Considering the constellation of Compass as an orientation system in the structure of the development of your thinking in relation to space space, one can see that there is a certain law, when, developing my thinking, for example, through the constellation Compass, you can see a certain direction of your thinking in space with the purpose of knowing it to ensure eternal life. Here you can see the principle that, working through the constellation Compass, you can see the specific line to reach the eternal life and the provision of the already existing eternal life through a certain orientation, a line of knowledge - where to move. Often knowing where to go in management is crucial in terms of ensuring guarantees of correct movements and goal achievement.

When working with information about the constellation Puppis, one can consider the principle of constructing any object of reality, such as a building, of what is reproduced by people as a system that also depends in a certain way on the outer space. Any the construction must be harmonious and synchronized with everything space, that is, everything that a person and any other person reproduces a living organism, or any man-made structure, any machine, it must be in harmony with what exists generally everywhere in space. Then the development of humanity will be harmonious. These laws must be observed from the very beginning when any construction, any development. In this case, the eternal development and eternal life in physical bodies will be guaranteed faster for everyone.

It can be very effective to research this way through his Consciousness practically the whole world external, surrounding to infinity, and get energy for distribution of your consciousness to infinity.

δ Cygni – 54936179891.

Through δ (zeta) Cygni, using the number series ϵ (epsilon)

Swan, which allows you to have access to information of all the external world, which is not visible to physical vision, create management of all processes that are considered through ε (epsilon) Cygni.
E Cygni – 53864729871
 ζ Cygni – 84964831978.

Through ζ (theta) Cygnus in the implementation of systems of eternal development it is possible effectively restore various tissue levels of a person by concentrating on the ζ (theta) Cygnus numbers. And through ζ (theta) Cygnus access to human matter is faster. That is It is possible to quickly restore matter with Consciousness.

You may want to consider when working with this constellation information on the interaction of such elements of Consciousness that determine the understanding of the processes of the physical world, information world. And yet when you consider, for example, the flight of a swan, then you can see that there are elements in space where the future is, it is absolutely creative and absolutely good for a person. Through this constellation one can reach out to areas of information where the necessary light is needed a joyful future, it is guaranteed for every person, and forever. Accordingly, each person has the opportunity to live forever, and in fact he is originally eternally living. Only certain areas of information he periodically for does not reveal itself, thereby creating obstacles for itself. That's how In this way, you already get rid of such obstacles when you see in information is precisely your eternal future.

There is still a certain practice here, working through constellation, through the stars, when by simply addressing them through star atlases or through direct perception, looking at the sky, mentally examining some part of space spaces, you can implement control based on the fact that that in these regions of space corresponding to the constellations, the information has already been formed as described in this book. And in connection with this, it turns out that a significant part of the work on the realization of eternal development, it has already been done.

Here you can see what is cosmic in general the space is built this way and it is no coincidence that it is located in such a way in a large volume around a person, that this is, in fact, an invitation nature to eternal development. Everything that is outside is eternal. This is the path, that is, the path is given by nature itself. It is not only a matter of will human movement, but this is also what is indicated by the external reality. Therefore, here you can see a certain a characteristic where the path can be seen behind any object information. Having considered any object of reality, one can see the path that he offers you for eternal development and which in many ways has already been done. You just need to be able to examine it,

as, for example, in the constellation Cygnus.

When working with information from the constellation Leo, you can concentrate your Consciousness on the lion's paws and at the same time consider, what thought will be formed in the area of the head image lion. Thus, you can control the management at the expense of that when you concentrate on something, you can find a point that is necessarily present in the information ensuring you and everyone around you eternal life in physical bodies. You just need to detect this point with what you need pay attention to the fact that such a point exists, and it is in front of is clearly manifested by you, providing you with eternal life.

When working with the constellation of Flying Fish, you need to consider the area of air between the fish and the water over which it flies flying fish; and see that the control system is also in air. That is, to consider and understand the principle that when control is not only inside the object, but also outside the object, the perception of somewhat generalized information allows to perform control more optimally and quickly.

When working with the constellation of the Fox, you need to put it in this way management, so that unnoticeable events, they would not pass past and did not cause certain systems that you did not immediately control. The ability to work through this constellation with some remote implicit systems in outer space thus allows control through a more subtle, more careful approach to management through this constellation. Here in In this case, we can use the term management at the expense of managing the details of any event.

When working with the constellation Ursa Minor to ensure eternal life in the physical body for yourself and everyone needs to consider information that is in the physical space the space between the constellations Ursa Minor and Ursa Major She-bears.

Here you can see that the general term that refers to the word Bear, it is such that when you look at this intermediate information in outer space; that is can be seen, by the principle of similarity or common terminology, a certain channel in Consciousness that allows one to study physical space as if from within, through structures that are similar to the concept of Consciousness.

You can view this space as if you were outside it, slowing down, for example, time, stopping it with an effort of will. And There is a lot to consider here, seemingly in a monolithic space and see how the most rigid systems, they are actually in fact, they are very transparent and manageable, and can be controlled. That is, there is rigidity - it is only a form of reaction of some system, for example, a stone, some kind of rigid space systems. This is form of reaction. Then, having reached the initial level, where this comes from, reaction, you can always change the form, which is very important for eternal life and exploration of outer space, and the creation of new types of equipment that operate according to different laws than known physical laws.

around the image of the eagle. It can be seen that eternal life is concentrated in the dynamics of the eagle's flight, in any dynamics. And at the same time everything infinite external space is in any dynamic impulse. Consequently, the perception of dynamics is already guarantees eternal life. And the dynamics, for example, of static objects can be perceived by thinking about the causes

In the constellation of Pavo we must consider the presence of the omnipresent substance created by God, which, as it were, observes and in form resembles the human eye. When this substance approaches, when you see a form similar to that of a peacock the feathers unfold, that is, the volume increases information, sudden or some complex; then it is necessary consider your actions in relation to this information.

The harmony of the world is such that it is impossible to interact with it information is needed synchronously and during certain processes simultaneously. Information of eternal development, it is embedded in reality in all structures of the surrounding world. Therefore, synchronization, then there is a commonality of purpose and a commonality of movement, this is one of the lines of the eternal life, and it needs to be perceived, and it needs to be realized - this line in development.

α Pegasus – 34971421961
 β Pegasus – 30975850961
 γ Pegasus – 38649721984.

Through γ (gamma) Pegasus one can consider the process as the matter of the Universe is created. from the side it resembles this the process that when mixed dough, then a certain movement of mixing one layer of dough with another. Then from the dough bread is obtained. This process creation of fabrics and materials The universe resembles a kind of baking process. Thus Thus, by observing this, one can obtain very powerful waves energy for the whole organism to ensure eternal life.

ε Pegasus – 51438121849
δ Pegasus – 83964871941
ε Pegasus – 85649721948

Through ε (eta) Pegasus one can consider the process of interaction Consciousness with the external macrocosm. Since Consciousness functions at many levels according to the law of the macrocosm, then, considering the processes of formation of the Universe, in total outer space, can be analyzed, considered and create certain mechanisms of one's own thinking and people's thinking, which is directed towards eternal life and ensures eternal life. Since the outer cosmic world has an infinite distribution, and in time it is infinite - from the beginning to infinity, then the initial level of time turns into space. And here you can see how through your Consciousness you can reproduce matter any creative level.

In the constellation Pegasus, one must take into account the structure of the internal world that intersects with everything external and internal space of any object. Then it turns out that, considering, for example, such a position as the speed of movement information in the constellation Pegasus, you can see the whole essence any object, including, for example, objects related to external nature, and see his whole future at once, instantly, like in the picture, as in a photograph. And thus, the main thing is – to extend this peculiar snapshot into the information of the future, as would be mentally thrown into infinity, so that each object there was an eternal structure of development. This is the technology of working with the constellation Pegasus

When looking at the constellation Perseus in your Consciousness, you need to go out to the level of imagination, that is, that part of Consciousness that corresponds to the imagination, and consider different dynamics development of the constellation. From the point of view of what if we were to consider a person who possesses, for example, the character traits of Perseus, information corresponding to the constellation Perseus, then how would it behaved in physical reality. That is, to move on imagination. And so the transition occurs through the structure of the body a person acting according to a certain direction structure information embedded in this body. Thus, by creating a body, We create imagination. And then for the body there is nothing unreal. Eternal development and eternal life in particular are a reality, which, through the transition from imagination to reality, creates truly eternal life.

For example, a fish in a fish – this is the technology of cognition here applicable due to the fact that there is such an element that one fish absorbs another, - here it is important to consider the level of information, on which the fish, being in the fish, essentially creates the external fish. Then the law is carried out, which you can do yourself bring to realization that there is no destruction of one beings to others because the other is directly related to the first.

Having learned this law of development, you can see that it is possible to create a world where there is no destruction of one by another. And this is a specific path in eternal life, in eternal development.

When you see the Earth surrounded by different systems information, different physical reality, as remote system from yourself, then you are on this Earth, regardless of what you think about it. Therefore, regardless of the thoughts, eternal life is guaranteed to you at a certain level, and here the main thing is not to deny what already exists.

And then, developing this system, you can go to the structure of the creation of the Soul and see that at the moment the Soul of creation already knows everything about you, and about its infinite eternal the future, and therefore about the eternal physical body. Therefore turn to the Soul, and you will see the eternity of your development and everyone else's surrounding, and how to make the body eternal.

CONSTELLATION CENTAURUS – 58410648949

α 1 Centauri A – Rigel Centaurus
– 58149881848.

In the region of the star α 1 Centauri, along the vector in the direction to On Earth, there is a form of life proteinaceous, similar to form human life. Based on given, we can consider distance from α 1 Centauri to planet Earth and consider development of life in interplanetary space space. From the point of view growth of matter in the Universe can be consider also the growth of matter life. And in connection with this a number of laws are revealed, including number overcoming space is superfast, based on two levels of life located at great distances in space space. In this case, the first law is determined: that life distributed under the same conditions and in the same spatial levels from the point of view of eternal development, as any other matter in the universe.

Second Law: Life forms tend to approach each other to each other for an even more intensive development of life as forms themselves, as well as any other. That is, the law of eternal development applies to all forms of life.

And the third law is more of a principle of life development in intergalactic, in outer space: it is defined in the following way, that for the development of life in accordance with the first and second laws in outer space are necessary develop intelligent activity. Thus, when finding somewhere life forms must be left some technologies for developing this form towards rationality, progress and, accordingly, equalization with any other advanced life forms.

 ν 2 Centauri – 59873131964
 π Centauri – 89436189758

In the region of the star π Centauri, the following can be seen: when the spread of Consciousness is produced in an infinite level of the cosmic space of the Universe, then there arise certain positions that indicate that there is a level creation of matter, that is, the organization of the primary essence matter. Considering with Consciousness these structures in the region of the star π Centauri, you can see that when creating primary fractions matter in distant cosmic spaces periodically the image of a person arises. From the image, in form related to man, the primary fraction of matter arises. In connection with this we can draw a definite conclusion that, in general, the organization matter from the point of view of the divine level really is organized from the primary level of reason, related to man. Thus it can be seen that God has the form of man.

This has many practical implications when considered control in outer space, since then it is possible level of organization of matter to restore physical matter person, to heal it. And, accordingly, once ever man was created in the historical process of the Earth, then the process general resurrection, it is directly connected, among other things, with development of technologies for the study of distant stars, since the form is always recoverable and the primary impulse is always preserved. That is, it is possible to restore the physical at the level of physical laws the body of a person who has ever lived, including, of course, his Spiritual structure with Consciousness and the structure of the Soul, which in information and, generally speaking, in the historical level of development space exists, and it just appears in in the place where the person was restored.

Thus, in devices that help resurrect people due to knowledge of the laws of physics, it is necessary to take into account that it is necessary in these devices, including introducing the control function through outer space. In this case, the applied the control tool is that through the star π Centauri can be accelerated by resurrecting all people.

ξ Centauri – 51964189141

In this case, the direct connection between the stars is π Centauri and ξ Centauri is defined in that in the region of the star ξ Centauri contains a certain form of matter, which has a certain level of concentration of physical development matter. In this regard, with the development of the technology of eternal life of man, the immortality of man, one can consider the principle when immortality is also defined and achievable by correct perception of distant matter, for example, in the area the star ξ Centauri, which provides the complete technology of immortality.

In combination with the star π Centauri, where there is information on the implementation general resurrection, we can consider the same principle that no matter, including physical matter, is indestructible. Everything is recoverable. And the existing physical matter of life, it turns out that it is also indestructible, and it can also exist forever. Once born, man, created any living being possesses a certain technology immortality in infinite time.

α Cephei – Alderamin – 51861421978.

In the region of the star α Cephei, including if you look at the information, located in the center of this star, the geometric center of this place, can be seen at the level of perception through Consciousness, through Spirituality diagnostics that exists certain information that is an organization of life forms.

Before life was organized, there is a preliminary level information. If strengthened by means of Consciousness action of this information, then life accelerates in development, and, accordingly, the processes increase ensuring the level of eternal development, eternal life.

So, focusing on this star, on the numerical row corresponding to this star, you can get an acceleration in achieving certain factors, ensuring the eternal life of man and all living things in general.

CONSTELLATION CLOCK (HOROLOGIUM) – 50160890988

α Hours – 31489751864.

In the constellation Horologium and localized in the region of the star α Horologium and β
You can find the hours by constructing a line connecting the sphere, approximately related to a constellation; if the boundaries of a constellation are represented in in the form of a sphere and from any internal part of the surface of this spheres mentally direct the vector to α Hours and to β Hours, that is first to α , then from α to β , then you can see that you can influence through Consciousness for a time.

In order to perform some control action, and you it takes time, you can increase it through concentration information time. And then you achieve control, for example, with a large resource of information time, which may also influence the physical time of events. However, for physical time this must then be established, that is control. You can also speed up time. In this case, acceleration time and, as it were, stretching, that is, increasing the period of time for the execution of the control system in the direction of perpetuity development, should in no way touch the physical body. This should occur at the management level, as if from the physical bodies. But time acts in such a way that it does not cause processes aging, but on the contrary, any management over time organize the norm of physical and spiritual health of a person level of normalization and disclosure of abilities and opportunities Souls. In general, it is necessary to consider the positivity of the action for for itself and for all of this management system.

β Hours – 51489751964

α Cups – Alkes 30964120984.

In the constellation of the Cup you can see a certain measure of action management. When you want stabilize management, see how much further is needed control action can be taken by focusing on constellation of the Cup, to see a certain structure of the assessment of the situation: what to do, for example, next in management. At the same time, it is possible provide the following characteristics:

if, for example, we imagine that water is poured into a cup, then through after some time the water overflows the bowl and begins to spill out the limits of the bowl's capacity. Here the internal attitude is for the water to it didn't overflow, which is the norm in this department, it is produced by concentrating on the stars of the constellation Chalice.

It is important to remember that you are considering the norm.

management at this point in time. Next management can be long or shorter. But the skill normalize management, do not delay and, on the contrary, normalize a greater impulse in time, for example, the actions of Consciousness - this is an important control characteristic that allows optimize management in the direction of eternal development and achieve management results more

Thus you you can create a universal principle for managing all external outer space due to the fact that you will begin to think about: how can work in one constellation be linked with work in another constellation; what are the technological principles and methods from this can appear in the direction of eternal life, for realization of eternal life.

CONSTELLATION SCUTUM – 31874981961

Producing control with numerical Near the constellation Scutum, you can see, that from the point of view of reflectivity the shield function inherent in the in a word, you can produce something like this control: imagine that the star beam The Sun going to the Shield, and the Shield in in this case it is considered as reflected element of the constellation, which, for example, protects the physical body a person or is generally located on protection of something, even some information. And this one, reflected from Shield Ray Star Sun in Control can be further extended to numbers rows related to the stars of this constellations.

Thus, the numerical series themselves in the management of the eternal development, eternal life are considered as being on reflected from the Shield by the Sun's ray. This is a way of controlling areas of the constellation Scutum.

α Shield – 51861431971
 β Shield – 89474121864
 γ Shield – 89871831961
 δ Shield – 89436171851

In the region of the star δ Scuti from the point of view of spatial accumulation of control of past events can be considered the next level of management. As the ray of the Sun in its time was in the past, then the reflected beam contains, as it were, the following characteristics of the Sun's ray. First, the ray hits on the Shield, and then it is reflected. Some subsequent action. But this action, if you imagine it in space geometric, for example, in front of itself, then it has a reflection through the central coordinate axis into the opposite structure, then there is in the past. Therefore, through the reflected Shield one can see the projection of past events and thus, if the projective component is not imposed on future events in norm, that is, if past events are somehow necessary to align from the point of view of the task of realizing eternal life, eternal development of man, then it is precisely this technology that allows through the region of the star δ Scuti to normalize the events of the past.

In this case, the management of past events falls as if into a physical factor of control. In fact, from the point of view of that if we consider the process at a distant distance from Lands where time seems to exist, and events are considered only the Earth level, from afar all events are visible at once, so it is possible consider this structure of human Consciousness. And then from the position how God the Creator organizes space can be see that control is going through the star δ Scuti already on the physical structure of past events. For external observer, including past events change. Moreover, can change in a more positive direction. For example, the interruption of a person's life in the past is prevented. And this the resource already has a genetic value embedded in it. That is there is a way to increase a person's life resource, resource of eternal development due to the fact that it is possible to manage the past events can be controlled almost directly through the action of one's own Consciousness, that is, on the physical level.

For the radiation recorded by the telescope, the future radiation the present is the past, but for us it is the present. Thus thus, it is possible to get into the past of the physical level from the point from the point of view of earthlings, but only through the goal of realizing eternal life for everyone. And the past can only be changed by increasing the time of life each to infinity.

The formula on the basis of which it is possible to carry out moving into the past through the constellation Scutum looks like this:
 S (moving into the past for 5 minutes and back to the present) = L (distance from Earth to the star α Scuti)*(Multiplied by the number stars with variable dimensions)51861431971/(Divided by the term as a product) $c \times 10^{17}$ (speed light multiplied by ten to the seventeenth power)(Multiplied on) N (The number of beats per minute of the human heart performing movement), that is

$$S = \frac{L \times 51861431971}{c \times 10^{17} \times N} .$$

You can use this formula to move an element of his consciousness into the past through the constellation Scutum. If there are enough specially cut stones crystals and electronic computers of sufficient performance, the first models of which are predicted in appearing in 2027, this formula can be used for moving a person into the past by 5 minutes.

When used to move other constellations, the formula looks different and the production capacity for this will appear after 2027.

The formula provides a fundamental approach to building systems movements of information areas and physical bodies in time, but with the development of technology, scientists cannot use this formula it is difficult to obtain instrument systems to create the device movements.

By multiplying S by the number 5, we can obtain by analogy installation for moving into the future with the aim of providing everyone eternal life.

Machines for traveling to the past can be mechanical by solving the problem of resurrection through the immortality of people, lived in the past. For this, before the event of departure, people from the past move into the present or future, where eternal life everyone has it and there are technologies for its mandatory implementation for everyone.

Thus, since for the present or future tense it is possible that the number of people will increase regardless of where people came from, it won't be difficult to make an adaptation such people to new conditions and resettle them on planet Earth or on other planets in the Universe suitable for life.

In this way absolute invulnerability will be achieved. life regardless of any events. It follows that life over time it will populate all of outer space and will be to develop forever along with the process of infinite increase space, which has already been established by scientific ways.

At the beginning of the 21st century, the process of resurrection has to be carried out due to the development of consciousness, which in some ways is similar described machine method, when resurrected teleports from the past without passing the time of its interruption life. With the construction of resurrection machines, the resources of consciousness and human activities can be aimed at accelerating exploration of outer space for the dissemination of eternal life. At the same time, everyone will have the knowledge of resurrection and eternal life based on their Consciousness, Soul and Spirit without use of machines. Since through one's Consciousness the resurrection and Eternal life is realized without dependence on machines.

In addition, the person himself can use fundamentally different methods of resurrection and eternal life, for example, the creation of the physical body of man by his eternal Spirit and eternal Soul. For this method you only need to run through Consciousness is the action of the Spirit to create the physical body of a person the same Soul and Consciousness. The question is related to the area reincarnation, will be decided by understanding that God is in the Soul each. For individuals who have many reincarnations Buddhist area of collective consciousness, Souls on one distance from God and united in the body of God into one in essence eternal life, that is, the same, but the Consciousness of these people different, aimed at the implementation of the same eternal tasks life. That is, in the area of the connection of Souls in the body of God, one can to say that this is one Soul and it is manifested in physical bodies the same, but due to different Consciousnesses - these are different personalities. As in the action of God, when He is everywhere, and reality is diverse.

Often different Souls are close to each other attitude towards God. Then people, when they meet, say that they have met a kindred soul. However, nearby Souls may not unite in the body of God, then this is not the reincarnation of one Soul from God, but simply close Souls. With the development of information in society about resurrection and eternal life all the described concepts present in collective consciousness, will be fundamentally cognized.
space exploration shows that it is being implemented
the plan of the eternal Creator to make everything like Himself.
In the present time travel is considered, first of all,
as an increase in the human genetic resource in the direction of eternal development.

At the same time, if, for example, we consider the state of affairs, the position of some texts in books, then it will be possible to see that transformation also occurs on the physical level. This is resembles a construction in time management, when some modification of past events at the physical level manifests itself in the future, but, naturally, in the structure eternal development, that is, at a creative level for all according to the task ensuring eternal development for all, eternal life for all.

ε Shield – 31964189178

In the region of the star ε Scuti, one can see a region information, by connecting to which through your Consciousness you can see a specific database, specific information on scientific development of the world in the direction of eternal development.
You can imagine how from the side of your physical body, mostly from the head, a luminous light spreads ray to the star ε Scuti, and this ray in the region of ε Scuti passes through areas that have physical body mass. Thus, you you can receive certain, so to speak, scientific knowledge management. It can be attributed to the science of knowledge, because the knowledge has both the informational form of speed and the form development, and the form of a certain set of facts that can be transform into analytics and obtain scientific knowledge. Scientific knowledge of eternal development in a more concentrated degree concentrated in the region of the star ϵ Scuti.

At the same time, you can, having received the technology of management development through scientific knowledge, apply and develop it based on own structure of Consciousness. All the knowledge that you receive at any level of management, including external outer space, are always your personal experience, and you, based on the structure of your own Consciousness, can structure to develop scientific knowledge further in any direction.

When you consider the principle of the shield in your Consciousness, then You see that the body is already completely protected. When working with information of this constellation can be known through thinking, locally imagine that you think in this constellation, that the shield, it is absolute, that is, you are invulnerable. Knowledge is more at a deep Spiritual level, at the level of the Soul, it allows you to develop technology to achieve invulnerability in any case. And thus This technology ensures the eternity of your physical body, so as well as the eternity of the physical bodies of others.

In the region of the star ζ_2 (theta)

Eridanus can be considered as a process of time compression as if on physical level. That is, if you concentrate on two levels time in the region of the star ζ_2 (theta) Eridani, even if relating, from the point of view of a person on Earth, to earthly time, then two layers of time can be mentally compressed in relation to each other and you can see that in this case physical matter is reproduced, including on Earth.

The time compression mechanism that you present in your Consciousness creates real physical matter at any point. space, including matter on Earth. So you you can restore almost any physical, including including biological matter, and this is a very good tool, tissue repair control device, including this can be considered as an effective resurrection technology.

Moreover, there is a consequence of this nature that when You get a substance through the ability to work over time, then can be laid into the structure of future events for eternal development of a sufficient amount of useful substances for the body of a person. That is, food products and so on, structures for development of Consciousness, including even training systems for that, so that a person could have a structure of eternal knowledge, eternal development, eternal life to comprehend more effectively due to the fact that you yourself you are laying such matter in the management of the future, including creation of future matter, eternal Consciousness, eternal development.

The structure of the star π (pi) Eridani, the area of information that located there, can be used to level up controllability due to the development of specialized systems of intelligence, aimed at eternal development. That is, a certain development of the mind towards achieving the level of eternal life, starting from the current time, from the moment of work, and at the same time, accordingly, in the task of ensuring life for an infinite time. Concentration of control in the region of the star π (pi) Eridani increases the functions of intelligence in the whole space, so it is possible name the orientations of physical processes in space, for ensuring eternal development through the action of the developing Human consciousness.

Here we can discover a certain law of reciprocity of development. Consciousness and external physical space on the path of the eternal development. At the level of evaluative concepts, this can be expressed as follows:
the more intelligence, the more intelligent life form develops direction of eternal development, the more responsive it becomes in this direction the outer space. Since the development of reason, for example, the structure of the development of Consciousness in distant cosmic levels, to micro levels, in general to the system of development of future events are also stored in space at the control level, as well as the development of the entire external space. Therefore, the more there will be reasonable actions in the direction of eternal development, more this information will fill all the information, corresponding to the whole world.

Thus, the entire cosmic space will be more oriented to provide certain structures interaction that will be aimed at eternal development man, all living things. That is, for example, flying in this case some comet, it will deviate from the Earth if it represents danger and so on. This is one of the methods of management macrobodies that may pose a danger. By the way, this is a safe management of any events in general that may cause physical harm to the human body. Management through the star π (pi) Eridani protects from such events. When if some intracellular processes are considered, then they also are converted into the norm. Thus, any changes human cells can also be normalized through control in in this particular case through the star π (pi) Eridani.

In the area of a certain information region between the stars ξ^1 (rho 1) Eridani and ξ^2 (rho 2) Eridani can be seen to have a structure management, which quite subtly shows what should be done in management to undertake in order to the level of eternity, which as if geometrically follows that eternity that you You perceive, you also need to implement.

Here is an example: You consider your eternal with Consciousness development, your eternal life and consider the level information, which has, for example, a silvery-white color. This geometric level in Consciousness is perceived as a certain volume, form. To construct the following form such for eternal development, it is advisable to consider this the area between the stars ξ^1 (rho 1) Eridani and ξ^2 (rho 2) Eridani. In this we can perceive that this area, which organizes the next event, the next information, even for information of eternal development. Here is such a unique the area of space that allows this to be done faster and more efficiently.

When working with the star ω (omega) Eridani, one can consider in general, the principle of working in the direction of eternal development. For example, use the text of this book, setting the goal of eternal life for yourself and all. You can read the series that are given in sequence, and This task is realized through the accumulation of experience consideration of the controls that arise when reading rows. At the same time, one can consider the following principle management, as a whole, the assessment of all the rows in the books, and work through certain, specific rows. There are both digital series ω (omega) Eridani control system, when it is possible through this series, as if instantly recalling the management of different other rows or perceive simply, and control from this increases quite significantly when the system reaches management in a shorter time.

Considering the movement of planets in the constellation Eridanus with your mind's eye, with your Consciousness, you can see that the movement of the planet Earth is closely connected with your Consciousness, and you, being on Earth, you are in very close harmony with the Earth and, in essence, With your Consciousness you move the Earth in space along with The consciousness of other people. This is perceived as a certain harmonious work from which you never get tired. That is, eternal life and eternal development, they do not lead to fatigue. And this an important characteristic of eternal development is that there is a resource that is perceived as the possibility of constant action without fatigue.

ζ Hydra Australis – 01964854978

Looking at the star ζ (theta) South Hydras can be found there a certain level of space space that characterizes super fast movement between constellations, galaxies, and at the same time there is a certain form of space here, which dramatically shortens the path. If a technical device that is produced including on Earth, takes into account the structure of space in the area the star ζ (theta) Hydrae Australis, which can be determined through astronomical and scientific research, then the engine with taking into account the information of the structure of this star can move as matter in space is superfast, that is, practically at the level of instant access systems.

So this is one of the principles of achieving the organization interstellar flights in the time intervals available for human, often instantaneous, without distorting the human form.

Another important characteristic is that the form or some or a natural way of life in which a person does not suffer no way. On the contrary, such movements even contribute greater knowledge of external physical phenomena by the human body systems, and occurs while maintaining the full form and all processes of man, the internal spiritual evolution, which allows you to control Consciousness even more in the macro direction material systems.

η Hydrae Australis – 51831421974

Here we can consider a management process when management of macro-material systems is concentrated in the structure of a numerical series. For example, deducing certain numbers from a series rays of development of Consciousness, when your Consciousness is transformed into another form through a row, and from the row already comes out synthesized the system of Consciousness, that is, united with a number, with information row, and it turns out that your Consciousness, saturated with this information, You can connect more with other forms of the outside world.

For example, if you imagine any object that has great weight, then through the numerical series of the Southern Hydra, entering into it form of information, into a unique level related to objects similar to the human Consciousness system can be more adapted to control, change its coordinates in this world. It turns out that this way you can change the weight of this system on a large scale distance, to deflect again some celestial body, an asteroid and and so on, including a comet, meteorite. In this case, it has the meaning of the power of only your Consciousness is to the extent that you you will be able to protect yourself from any space objects space the territory of the Earth or any orbital apparatus.

However, you are always in one place, and,
by imagining your own image in another place, you you automatically attract him to yourself due to certain resources and systems of your physical body. Thus, whatever external image is realized, even in the form photos, presentations, your body physical information brings out on itself. This is a factor when in the generalization of systems it turns out that the body outputs any information to itself. This means, it turns out that your body is eternal, because the outside world is eternal, so the same as the Creator of the world.

CONSTELLATION SOUTHERN FISH (PISCIS AUSTRINUS)
– 31964989471

In the constellation South Fish, you can see it a process such as Structure management of one's own Consciousness in an area that has not yet mastered by Consciousness.

Using geometric area in space, corresponding to the South Fish, you can connect mentally a beam emanating from the body, from the head of a person, for example, and at the same time, having mentally passed through the constellation of the Southern Fish, mechanically add a glow above the head, increasing penetration into a broader area of management by the structure of eternal development.

In this case, when this beam passes, control must be do it quickly so that there is no perception of any distractions noise. You can imagine that when a fish swims in water, it does not create much noise. You need to be able to connect the structure, existing in the collective Consciousness in relation to fish, and the management structure that you are currently producing time.

In general, the principle of docking your control with the known level of control in the collective Consciousness is an important the principle of development of the entire Consciousness as a whole. If you, based on management in the constellation of the Southern Fish, consider that the layers

The collective consciousness needs to be raised to the level of optics the structure of eternal development, then this can be done through this constellation, using the control structure through that constellation.
